By Natural Gas Fumes—Janitor Turned Damper in the Church the Wrong Way.

Columbus, Dec. 23.—Five members of the choir of the Second Baptist church last night were overcome by natural gas during the services and had to be removed in ambulances. Mrs. Martha Jones, Miss Lena Moss, Miss Bertha Davis and Miss Payne fainted quickly after getting into fresh air but owing to heart trouble, Mrs. Susan Jordan, did not completely revive until almost morning. The church janitor had turned the damper the wrong way, sending fumes into the choir loft.

Services were broken up by the accident.

KING EDWARD

May be Arbitrator in the Controversy Going on Between Chili and Argentina.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Information was received here by Senor Garcia Merou, the minister from the Argentine Republic, that his government had decided to suspend negotiations with Chile in regard to the disputes existing between them and to refer the whole matter to the arbitration of the King of England for settlement. This news was received in a dispatch from Dr. Alcorica, the minister of foreign affairs of the Argentine Republic.

The pending negotiations between Argentina and Chile will probably be continued through Secretary of Legation Blancas or be transferred to Buenos Ayres. The retirement of Senor Portela has been accepted by the public with great indifference. Perfect tranquility continues here.

JURY

CLAIMS NO AGREEMENT CAN BE REACHED.JUDGE, HOWEVER, REFUSES TO DISCHARGE JURY.

MAN IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

And of Shipping Body to Little Rock
as Own in Order to Collect Insurance.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Dec. 23.—The Rathbun jury, after deliberating 42 hours reported to Judge Marsh this morning that they could not agree. Judge Marsh sent the jury back telling the jurors that they ought to decide on a verdict, as he saw no reason why one could not be rendered. It is said that eight stood for conviction and four for acquittal.

Rathbun is accused of murdering Chas. Goodman, and shipping his body to Little Rock as his own (Rathbun's) in order to collect life insurance.

SCHLEY IN NEW YORK.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Rear Admiral Schley left Washington this morning at 10 o'clock over the Penna. road for New York accompanied by his wife.

MACLAY

Refuses to "Go Back and Sit Down" Till Given a Trial Under Civil Service.

New York, Dec. 23.—Edgar Stanton MacLay, the Navy Yard laborer and "Historian," says he will not obey the request of President Roosevelt that he get out. He says he was appointed under civil service rules and that after charges are preferred and he gets a fair hearing, if the charges are upheld, he will go and not before.

SCHELY CASE

Admiral May Appeal to Courts, Since
He Can't Get Justice From Navy Department.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Now that Secretary of the Navy Long has approved the findings of the Schely court of inquiry and practically disapproved the opinion of Admiral Dewey respecting the credit to the famous naval victory on the ground that that question was not before the court, it is possible that Admiral Schely will seek redress in the courts. Counsel for the admiral vehemently denounced the action of Secretary Long. Unless the president intervenes, counsel say the matter may be taken into the courts. There is a power in the courts to compel the secretary to file the dissenting opinion of Admiral Dewey whether he agreed with it or not. President Roosevelt has requested the resignation of Historian MacLay, who viciously assailed Schely in a recent naval history and who is employed as laborer at the Brooklyn navy yard. General Nelson A. Miles has been recommended by Secretary of War Root for publicly expressing his approval of the finding of Admiral Dewey, which was favorable to Admiral Schely. The secretary says it is his desire to have the war department in no way involved in the controversy.

Long to Hold On.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Secretary Long's attention having been called again to reports that he contemplated resigning from the cabinet, he again said there was not a word of truth in the report.

Depew on Panama Canal.

London, Dec. 23.—The wedding of Senator C. M. Depew and Miss May Palmer, has now been fixed for Dec. 28, at Nice. Senator Depew said that had M. Hutin, former president of the Panama Canal company, offered to sell the canal for $10,000,000 instead of expecting the United States to bid for about the price, the United States would probably have bought the property. The senator said the decision reached Saturday by the Panama Canal company had come too late. The shareholders of the Panama Canal company that day adopted a report which proposed, among other things, to adopt as a basis of negotiations for the sale of the canal to the United States the figures and declarations contained in the conclusions of the isthmian commission's report, and to give the company power to close the discussion by proposing a fixed price.

JAPAN

To Stop Emigration—Will Discourage Its Citizens From Coming to the United States.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Japan, seeking the good will of the United States, will henceforth, for as many years as may be necessary, discourage emigration to this country.

This policy, recently decided on by the mikado's government has just been manifested by the Japanese ambassador at Washington, who has asked the owners of a large trans-Pacific steamship line not to import several thousands laborers from Japan to work in southern rice fields. The company will consequently refuse a liberal offer made it by southern planters and will likewise refuse similar contracts in the future.

Mr. Shirasaki, general manager of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, or Oriental Steamship Company, is at the Annex. He has just come from Washington, where he consulted with the Japanese ambassador who informed him of the desires of high government officials at Tokio regarding the restriction of emigration.

Mr. Shirasaki says Japan unlike China, is willing to keep its surplus laborers at home rather than risk an interruption of its friendly relations with the United States.

SALARIES OF CONGRESSMENMovement Reported in Washington to Double the Pay of Members of House and Senate.

Washington, Dec. 23.—A movement is on foot here to get a bill through Congress increasing the salaries of Senators and Congressmen to $10,000 per year. Members of the National Legislature now get $5,000, with an allowance of 20 cents a mile for traveling fees. These figures were fixed in 1865, displacing the $3,000 salary and 40 cents mileage which had been paid under the law of 1855.

In the first Congress members received $6 a day and 30 cents mileage, which gave them about $1,000 each for a session of 165 days, the average length. In 1795 the rate became $7 a day, and a shout went up against extravagance. In 1815 a salary of $1,500 a year was fixed and almost caused a revolution. Popular clamor so continued, indeed, that in 1817 a compromise bill was passed reducing the salaries in effect to $1,300. This was an $8-a-day rate, which remained in force until the law of 1855 was passed. The act of 1873, with its $7,500 salary and notorious "back-pay grab," was the last attempt to change the pay of the nation's lawmakers. It was in force for one year only.

There is no doubt of the rapid rise of living expenses in the capital city. A congressman whose family lately urged him to take new quarters for his family found a monthly bill of $600 involved, against a monthly salary of $416.67. However, a conservative authority has lately declared that $5,000 is enough for the adequate living of any average member of Congress. It is the men with private, outside incomes who set a pace that calls for more.

Gen Alger's Condition.

Detroit, Dec. 23.—The condition of General Alger who was operated on yesterday is improving today. Last night 600 newboys contributed to a floral tribute to Alger who for 20 years has bought a suit of clothes for every licensed newboy.

London, Dec. 23.—A dispatch from Constantinople states that the Turkish postoffice there has issued notice that henceforth no closed letters will be accepted for distribution, and that all correspondence within the precincts of the city must be conducted by means of post cards.

New York, Dec. 23.—The U. S. Transport McClellan arrived this morning from Manila with 38 cabin passengers, 212 enlisted soldiers, and the bodies of Captain Herbert, who died at Hong Kong, and that of William Tabb, a government clerk, from Guam who died at sea. Beyond Tabb's death, not a single mishap or accident occurred on the voyage.

FORAKER

ASSERTS RIGHT TO SUPPORT
FRIENDSDISCUSSES FACTIONAL CONTEST
AT HIS HOME

WILL NOT GO TO COLUMBUS

Until After the Republican Caucuses
—Biography of John Sherman—
Other Ohio News.

Cincinnati, Dec. 23.—Senator Foraker has arrived home from Washington. He stated that he would remain here during the congressional holiday recess and perhaps longer, and that he would not visit Columbus, at least not until after the legislature convened. As Senator Foraker's successor is to be elected Jan. 16, the joint Republican senatorial caucus will be held during the second week of next month. While there is no opposition to the re-election of Senator Foraker, the fight continues between his friends and those of Senator Hanna for the control of both branches of the legislature. Senator Foraker was not inclined to discuss the contest now being waged at Columbus or its present prospects, but he insisted that any one had a right to be a candidate for any position, and that he, the same as others, had a right to support his friends.

Malloy Sees Dick.

Columbus, O., Dec. 23.—John R. Malloy returned from Akron, where he has been in conference with Congressman Dick. The organization of the legislature was discussed between them, but Mr. Malloy said he had nothing to give out. He does not believe Mr. Dick will come to Columbus. Representative W. S. McKinnon of Ashtabula county, who up to this time has not been identified with either faction, is becoming, it is claimed by his friends, a formidable factor in the race for the speakership.

Biography of John Sherman.
Mansfield, O., Dec. 23.—Ex-Congressman Kerr, one of the executors of the will of the late John Sherman, is writing the biography of the distinguished statesman. There will be two volumes of 600 pages each. Senator Sherman set aside $10,000 for that purpose. Mr. Kerr says that one of the interesting things that the task has developed is that Senator Sherman was very careful to keep every letter received by him from prominent people in this and other countries. These contain many important letters on important events in the nation's history. Many of the letters were from his brother, General W. T. Sherman.

Captured a "Fence."
Columbus, O., Dec. 23.—Detectives arrested T. R. Davis and Sam Ashery on a charge of robbery, and Alice Highwarden, on a charge of receiving stolen property. All are colored. Davis was arrested while trying to pawn a brooch valued at $100. On his person were found letters addressed to 261 East Walnut street, this city. The police made an investigation and found the house filled with stolen goods, such as diamonds, jewelry, silverware, linen, household articles, bicycles and clothing. Local merchants are the victims.

Tobacco Plant Sold.
Middletown, O., Dec. 23.—The Continental Tobacco company has secured the Wilson & McCallay plant in this city. The consideration is not made public. The Continental Tobacco company several years ago secured the P. J. Sorg tobacco works in this city and still operate them, while Wilson & McCallay, who employed 400 people, still held out as an independent concern. McCallay telegraphed Wilson from New York that the deal had been closed, and it is believed that the transfer will be made Jan. 1.

Clergyman Held Up.
Toledo, Dec. 23.—Rev. W. B. Campbell of the Evangelist Mission church, a colored organization, was held up and robbed of $45 while on his way home from a train, he having just arrived from Cleveland. Campbell is a bishop in the church, having charge of this denomination in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Virginia.

Expense Too Heavy.
Cleveland, Dec. 23.—The Fifth regiment of Cleveland will not attend the coming inauguration of Governor Nash at Columbus. The reason given by the officers of the organization for not following the custom of former years is the heavy expense that would be incurred in the trip.

Church Licked Up.
Springfield, O., Dec. 23.—The First Congregational church was totally destroyed by fire. Loss $25,000. It was a new church, constructed but a few years since. The origin is a mystery, though it is supposed to have been due to an overheated furnace.

"Here is an article on how to manage a wife," announced the visitor. "H'm: are you married?" asked the editor. "No; why?" "Nothing; I just thought so."

LOST ART FOUND

A Baltimore Chemist Discovers How
To Dissolve Glass and Enamel
With Solution.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 23.—David A. Nicoll of this city claims to have discovered a process for dissolving glass and to have recovered one of the lost arts of enameling possessed by the ancient Egyptians. By means of a chemical solution Nicoll has succeeded in rendering glass soluble and has converted it into a liquid form which can be applied to articles and surfaces with a brush like paint or any other pigment.

Nicoll exhibited a large white bathtub at his house which he had painted with the liquid glass. The tub glistened like crystal and had a surface as smooth and as hard as a window pane.

Nicoll showed a gill of liquid solution in a pint flask which he said represented a quantity of glass equal to that in the bottle. The solution he applied to a sheet of paper and it hardened almost immediately, revealing a hard and brilliant surface. When the paper on which the enamel was placed was doubled the solution broke like glass.

GUN USED

As the Result of a Terrible Family
Quarrel—Three Shot, Two Seriously Wounded.

Huntington, W. Va., Dec. 23.—During a family quarrel in Central City, William Lafferty was shot and seriously wounded by his son Burt. After being injured, the father, seizing a shotgun, ran into the street and fired at his fleeing son, the shot penetrating his back. His injuries will result fatally. Rebecca Lafferty, a daughter, intercepted the father, when he turned and fired at her, inflicting a serious wound. Lafferty was overpowered by the officers and is now in jail. Lafferty had not been living with his family and claims that he called at the home to try to heal up old difficulties. Neighbors allege that Lafferty was whipping his wife when the son reached, the scene and opened fire.

Monument to Baudin.
Paris, Dec. 23.—President Loubet inaugurated in the Faubourg St. Antoine a statue to the memory of Deputy Charles Baudin, a representative of the people, who was killed on the barricade of the Faubourg St. Antoine Dec. 3, 1871, the day following the coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon. Baudin was memorable for the reply he gave to the workman who refused to defend the barricade. To this man Baudin said: "You will see how a representative of the people can die for 25 francs a day." He then mounted the barricade. The soldiers fired a volley and Baudin fell dead.

Quit the Trust Plants.
Muncie, Ind., Dec. 23.—Next week more than 100 skilled workmen in the trust windowglass plants will hand in their notices and their connection will be severed within the next fortnight. The break from the trust plant ranks promises to work a hardship on the corporation at this season of the year. The cause of the exodus is the starting of a number of extensive co-operative and independent plants in which the men have interest. One will be at Danville and another at Centralia, Ills. These plants will be put in complete operation within two weeks.

Camps Allowed in the Vicinity.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 23.—Judge Evans in the federal court today, handed down his decision in the case of the United mine workers union and others sustaining the complainant's motion for a permanent injunction.

The opinion is lengthy and emphatic. The decision will have far reaching effects.

DANCE—The Alafretta club, will give a German at Brennan's hall Christmas night. The list of favors were purchased in Columbus by Dr. R. W. DeCrow and Miss Katherine Simonds, and the affair is expected to be the swellest society event of the season.

"And now," said the woman who was doing her Christmas shopping, and had purchased many expensive articles, "I want something for my husband." "You will find the bargain counter two aisles to the left," replied the astute saleswoman.

"And now we come to the end of the story," said the young lady who was fond of fairy lore. "Of course, you know what became of the Prince and Princess." "They got divorced and lived happily ever afterward," spoke up the little girl from Chicago.

THE GREAT AMERICAN NEWS-PAPER.

That was a great hit the Enquirer made in its famous and popular guessing contest just successfully completed. Thousands of people of all classes became greatly interested and for some two months previous to the late Ohio election the total vote of the state was a subject of unusual discussion and speculation. Hundreds have been made happy by the Enquirer's liberal prizes and the circulation of the Weekly edition is now actually at the half million mark. No other metropolitan paper in the United States can make such a showing as to its Weekly edition. The fact is that the Cincinnati Enquirer today stands closer to the people than any other great newspaper in the entire country—North, South, East or West.

All things considered, the Enquirer today outstrips all rivals in popularity with the great mass of the people. It is THE great American newspaper.

Advocate's Christmas Number.

The people of Newark had a good chance to make a comparison between the two Newark papers Saturday night and the Advocate is pleased that they were given the opportunity.

The American-Tribune for days announced that it would issue a Christmas number and from the way it was boomed by solicitors and through the columns of the paper, one was led to think that it would be an exceptionally fine paper. All the time the Advocate at great expense was going ahead with its Christmas edition but it did not have special advertising solicitors out nor did it proclaim the edition or make boast of it in advance.

The Advocate simply made its readers a Christmas present of a 16-page up-to-date paper illustrated with the choicest cuts and best Christmas matter obtainable. Tribunes were put in the homes of Advocate subscribers that night and readers of this paper were given a chance to compare the two papers.

Not only did the Advocate excel its competitor in every way so far as Christmas features were concerned, but the superiority was equally noticeable in the news columns.

The many compliments that are being received at this office are ample compensation for the effort and expense that the Christmas edition entailed.

Information comes from the Philippines that concentration camps are being started there on the Weyler plan in Cuba and the British in South Africa. General Bell is stamping out the insurrection in Batangas province by compelling the natives to move within the limits of concentration, their live stock, rice, etc. The roads are said to be lined with a continuous stream of native men, women and children. Anything found outside the camps will be confiscated and the men held as prisoners of war or deported. This very same sort of barbarism practiced by Weyler in Cuba is what brought on the Spanish-American war.

General Miles supports Admiral Dewey's opinion. The general is another man that knows what anxieties and responsibilities rest on a commander during actual hostilities and he knows, furthermore, what it is to be made the victim of a clique of paper officers.

WHY PAYNE WAS APPOINTED POSTMASTER GENERAL.

(New York World.)

In making a Cabinet a President fills each office with a man who will bring to the Administration some element of strength. What element of strength is there in Henry C. Payne? His only reputation is as a political manipulator, a lobbyist, a master of the politics of commerce and corruption, which President Roosevelt professes to abhor. That is why the Republican machine organs which have always been irritated by Mr. Roosevelt's preachings of "decent politics" are jeering at him, while the independent newspapers and the independent voters are amazed and shocked.

Payne built himself up in Milwaukee and in Wisconsin by Quay and Croker methods. As Postmaster of Milwaukee from 1872 to 1886 he practiced those methods to the increasing offense of the rank and file of the sturdy Republicanism of Wisconsin. In 1886 he was dismissed from the Milwaukee postoffice by President Cleveland for making it the headquarters of a corrupt and scandalous political machine. And later, after ten years of commercial politics, he developed into one of Hanna's cleverest manipulators. But so notorious has his political conduct become that Mr. McKinley refused to have him in his Cabinet, yielding to the vigorous protests of the reputable Republicans of the Northwest.

There are then two—and two only—possible explanations of the appointment of this Wisconsin Quay. The first is one offered by the Republican machine organs. The Sun, for example, said on Thursday:

"He (Payne) is the very type of the political adviser whom President

America is the only civilized country in the world whose citizens cannot buy ships where they please. Until we allow this privilege those who claim to be the special champions of the American merchant marine have no right to ask the people to tax themselves for subsidies in its behalf. But the fact is becoming apparent that ships can actually be built in this country cheaper than anywhere else in the world. Hence there is no good pretext for the ship subsidy scheme on that score.

The statement of General Chaffee that the whole people of the Philippines—native officials and all—have turned traitors to the United States throws a lurid light on the real condition of affairs in that archipelago. General Chaffee's vivid picture is in striking contrast with the rose colored views of the Taft Commission.

Schley Is Not a Coward.

(N. Y. Mail and Express.)
No responsible, thinking or patriotic person has accused Schley of cowardice, at Santiago or elsewhere. He never could get where he was and is if he had been a coward. There are no cowards among the tried men of the American navy. The writer who accused Schley of this stands convicted of being a bad historian and a mischief-maker.

The Taft commission is not at all modest in its request for congressional sanction to enlarged powers. The commission desires not only to control franchise grants in the Philippine Islands, but to be supreme in all questions of public property ownership, even to the sale of church property. If we are to begin this policy of government by commission in newly acquired territories and keep it up as needs suggest themselves there is practically no limit to the scope of arbitrary exercise of power. It is far from surprising under the circumstances that we are again hearing of foment and incipient rebellion among the Philippine natives.

Even Heroes Have Faults.

(Boston Post.)
Why not let the American people have their heroes? These men have their faults of course. They are not demi-gods. But with all the weaknesses and failings which the red-tape gentlemen attribute to them, Dewey, who fought the battle of Manila and Schley who fought the battle of Santiago will be the heroes of the American navy in history as they are the heroes of the people today.

The customs official goes where duty calls.

Roosevelt has been unjustly suspected of distrusting and over whom he has been unwarrantably accused of rough riding.

This is equivalent to saying that President Roosevelt, bent upon a second term and fearing that methods of honesty and courage would fail, has called to his aid the forces of corruption, has not merely compromised with but bound himself to the powers of darkness.

The only other explanation is that President Roosevelt in his inexperience of national politics was unaware of Payne's public character and public reputation, of the public conduct which has made the decent elements of his party in Wisconsin cast him out, and of the many grave railway and telephone scandals attaching to him as a political leader. This explanation is not so improbable as it might seem at first glance. At any rate every friend of the Theodore Roosevelt who has the public respect and confidence will cling to this explanation as long as Mr. Roosevelt will permit it.

But if Mr. Roosevelt, informed of Payne's record, persists in putting him in charge of the department whose vast patronage makes it such a temptation to Presidents seeking a re-nomination and not scrupulous as to the means, then how can Mr. Roosevelt's friends defend him against the jubilant taunts of the Platts and Quays and Addickses and their organs? And what will it profit Mr. Roosevelt to gain the nominal support of the corruptionists and lose his one great element of political strength?

Turn Their Batteries on Dewey.

(Boston Traveler.)
That cabal of naval officers, which has persistently maligned, slandered and attempted to defame the name of Admiral Schley, backed by a few newspapers which are notorious for their bitter enmity against the real hero of Santiago, are now attempting to smirch the fame of Admiral Dewey by calling him a blunderer and reflecting upon his motives. Because he was manly enough and courageous enough to sign a minority report which, even if it did not strictly come within the scope of the inquiry, was received by the American people with an acclamation as the final verdict from the greatest living sailor, as to the responsibility for the great naval victory at Santiago.

HE SWAGGERED.

The Results of a Young Man Trying to Be It.

"When I got my two weeks' vacation last summer," said the young man with the unhappy countenance, "I made up my mind to slug on a little style and be a tip-topper. I went to a seashore resort and registered myself under a high sounding name and managed to be it known that I was the nephew of a multimillionaire by that name. It wasn't twenty-four hours before I was swarming with half a dozen good looking girls and the envy of all the other young men. Then my troubles began. The landlord hinted that so distinguished a guest ought to take a parlor room and I took it at an increase of $9 per week. Then I was told that the house and champagne at $3.50 per bottle, and I had to order. My five to the waters doubled up shoe polish advanced 50 per cent, and I had to subscribe to a hop, a musicale, an orphan excursion and three or four other things. They even struck me for a dollar to buy a sailor's wooden leg and 50 cents more to help a fisherman's widow get an ear trumpet.

"I had counted on two long weeks," continued the young man as he heaved a long sigh, "but at the end of five days I was down to my last plank. That was just enough to get home on but before I could start I had to chip in a quarter to help buy shoes for a fatherless boy, and when I finally took the train my silver watch was in the pawnshop. I came, I saw, I swagged and swelled and was quite the thing, doncher know, but it only lasted five days, and I'll be lard up all winter to pay for it. I signed to be at the top, but I shall sigh no more. The drop hurts a fellow of my fine feelings."

Keen Observation.

"Do you know anything about the people who have moved next door?" she inquired.

"Not much," he answered, "except that their honeymoon is not yet over."

"How do you find that out?"

"By observing it was raining when he came home this evening, but she did not make her stop at the front door to wipe her feet."—Washington Star.

THE GOVERNMENT PALACE, HAVANA.

The near approach of Cuba's first presidential election revives interest in the affairs of that island. The issue is not one of policies so much as one of men. Arrayed for one or other of the leaders are voters representing a population of conflicting ideas, but unanimous interest. There are about 900,000 white Cubans on the island, 400,000 Cuban negroes, 100,000 Spaniards and 50,000 foreigners of all other races.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

A Cheap Smokehouse.

Any one having a small amount of meat to smoke and not caring to depend on the neighbors' smokehouses can build one himself without use of lumber or nails, says a correspondent of New England Homestead. Simply take an old hoghead and saw a hole near the bottom for a stovepipe to enter. Get an old cast iron teakettle and cut a hole near the bottom for draft. Now procure a few lengths of stovepipe; better, ten; less than five will burn the meat. Set your hoghead at least two feet above the level of the kettle. Fill the latter with kindlings, including some hickory wood and cobs, and place the elbow of the pipe over the top of the kettle. Start a fire and hang your hams in the hoghead. The damper should be used when fuel is put in. This will do the work. I have used it for years and find it practical.

Storing Cabbages.

To have cabbage good and fresh in the winter it is best to put it in the ground, says a New Jersey grower in American Agriculturist. I open a double furrow with the plow and put the cabbage in a single row with the heads down and the outside leaves drawn in under the head. I then plow two furrows to them. The first furrow covers the cabbage, and the other I draw up over roots, smoothing along on top with a shovel so that it will shed the water. If I want to use the cabbage through the winter, then trash is thrown over it to keep the ground from freezing to it. I have been successful in keeping cabbage this way and have it to sell to my neighbors in the spring when theirs rotted by leaving the roots uncovered.

Guinea Fowls on the Farm.

Keep at least a pair of guineas on every farm as a hawk, rat, weasel and perhaps even a skunk preventive, says a Maine farmer in American Agriculturist. In warm weather they will feed themselves, as they are great foragers, but they are apt to lay out, so it is advisable to keep them within the coop till they lay, as often has to be done with geese. In many regions they can be bought cheaper than common hens, and chickens can be raised for table much cheaper. Their eggs are delicious. The average chicken thief will not brave coop or yard guarded by guinea fowls, with their discordant voices and aggressive tempers.

Forage Crops.

A writer in the Ohio Farmer gives the following computations of four crops which he grew for fodder last season, computed from weighing the product of one square rod in each field, taking what he thought was the best part of the field, a method perhaps as fair for one as the other: Soy beans, medium green, 3/4 tons green forage per acre; whippoorwill cowpeas, 12 1/2 tons per acre green forage; Early Orange sorghum, 15 1/2 tons green forage per acre, and red cob ensilage corn, 31 tons per acre of green forage. All had a moderate dressing of stable manure per acre and each the same amount of commercial fertilizer.

Cowpeas as a Soil Improver.

The depleted, worn-out lands of New England need some crop that will not only add plant food to the soil, but that will renovate these lands by rejuvenating and adding life to them, says C. W. Burckett in New England Homestead. The warm soils of New England and the northern states are lacking in productivity primarily because they contain so little organic matter. Cowpeas can be grown and left to die on the ground or be plowed under, which is better, thus improving the soil in a marked degree.

Winter Care of Calves.

Fall calves should be kept in a warm, dry, light stable and fed skim milk until the following spring, says New England Homestead. Skim milk, however, should not form the entire ration. Oil-meal is needed in place of the butter fat removed and some crushed oats and wheat bran to make growth, 81-lage, if you have it, or sweet clover hay should be given daily in small quantities. Calves for beef may have some cornmeal.

Two Pig Litters a Year.

Why should a hog man be content with one litter of pigs a year when he can have two at no more cost? asks Farm and Ranch. Encourage the two litter a year habit in sows, and they will live longer, do better and be productive at a greater age than one litter a year sows. It is the opinion of many experienced hog men that sows will bring more pigs at a litter twice a year than once a year.

Wheat Screenings for Sheep.

In some feed tests carried on at the Utah station with sheep to determine the comparative value of wheat, frost-dried wheat and wheat screenings it was shown that it is more profitable to feed the screenings than either good or frosted wheat, cost considered.

Feed for the Brood Sow.

A brood sow should be fed a variety, such as bran, roots, etc. Corn is fattening and should not be fed in large quantities. It promotes neither the growth of the sow nor the pigs. Some green vegetable food should be given in winter.

Value of Stable Blankets.

Stable blankets save oats and keep the horses' coats smooth. They are also as useful on the cows. Bran sacks may be doubled and used for this purpose.

To Keep Sweet Potatoes.

Sweet potatoes can be stored with fair success by putting in a box with alternate layers of dry, fine sand.

TURNING NEW LEAVES.

The time of year again has come when men make resolutions. That resolution they will better guard their cash and constitutions. Some merely make a mental vow that they will act more wisely, and some make oath before the squire, who writes it down precisely.

Some, thinking they're tobacco slaves, And are now leaves turning And are hereafter pipes, cigars And tobacco lies 'till he turns green. Then some who've used a plug each day The habit none are rarer; They've settled that they'll "shake" the weed, And so they swear off chewing.

The man who has at times indulged In practice known as "hooring" Persons is the actor of his ways And conscience is accusing. He says that he no more will go Where glasses are or drink wine; He'll spend his nights in better style, And so he swears off drinking.

Some say no more they'll borrow cash To waste in foolish spending, And some who've frequently been "touched" Decide to stop all lending. Some who have often stretched the truth For a room or a dollar, And some who long as a lean profane Now stop and swear off swearing.

Some make these vows at each year's end, But break in reformation. For when the festive time arrives They can't resist temptation. But many to their vows adhere, Save cash and constitutions; So cheer them on, and do not scoff At new year's resolutions.

—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Took the Bluff.

"I was in a hotel in Indiana a few weeks ago," said the New York drummer, "when the talk turned on General Grant. Pretty soon one of the crowd referred to his two terms as president, and I felt called upon to correct him."

"How correct him?" was asked.

"Why, as to the two terms. Of course he served only one. The fellow was one of the obstinate kind, however, and he finally offered to bet me a hundred to fifty that he was right. It made the cold chills go over me. It was a dead sure thing for me, and yet I hadn't the money to put up. Gee! But I never felt so mean in my life. Being dead broke I had to take his bluff. I'll be healed on my next trip, however, and I'll try and find that chap and rake in his wad."

"I wouldn't," said the man who had spoken before.

"Why not?"

"I'd use the money to buy a history of the United States and have your ears shortened."

INSTANTLY KILLED.

William Walters While Handling Ice Sunday Morning Was Struck on the Head by a Large Cake of Ice—Funeral Occurs on Tuesday.

A very sad and fatal accident occurred between 9 and 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning, the victim being William Walters, a man 27 years old, married, who lived on Orchard street in Franklin's addition.

At the time of his death he was employed, with his team, assisting Miller & Howell in putting up ice. He had taken a load of ice to the house, and was engaged in attaching the ice hooks with a cake of ice to a rope, which ran around a pulley, and the ice was then hoisted up. One cake was being drawn up, and Walters was reaching for another, when the hooks slipped and the cake of ice fell, striking Walters on the head and shoulder. A big gash was cut in his head, and his left side crushed in, and he was otherwise bruised.

A hurry call was sent for Bowers & Bradley's ambulance in which he was placed, but he died almost immediately afterward.

Besides the widow the deceased leaves one child.

Walters was a sober and industrious young man, and the family have the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral will take place from the Pataskala Street Baptist church, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. B. F. Patt conducting the services.

FAMILY POISONED

From Eating Canned Peaches, But Mrs. Charles Dowd and Three Daughters are Now Said to be Out of Danger—Very Ill All Night.

Sunday night, shortly after supper, a hurry call was sent to Dr. C. A. Hatch from the residence of Mr. Charles Dowd, the well known B. & O. conductor, at 209 South Second street. Dr. Hatch immediately responded to the call, and on his arrival at the home of Mr. Dowd found Mr. Dowd's wife, Mrs. Lida Dowd, and his three daughters, aged 12, 14 and 16 years respectively, suffering intense pain and nausea and showing every indication of poisoning. An investigation disclosed the fact the mother and daughters had partaken quite freely of canned peaches at their supper, and they had evidently consumed poisonous matter from the tinned can. The restoratives used in such cases were administered, and after laboring with them faithfully the greater part of the night they were declared out of danger this morning.

FOLLIES OF FASHION

SARTORIAL VAGARIES OF THE CENTURIES THAT ARE GONE.

Grotesque Styles That Reigned in the Time of Chaucer—Raiment That Rivalled the Rainbow and Men Who Stretched Their Beards.

It is a little gratifying to reflect that, however the men of today may compare with his ancestors of bygone centuries in physique and morals, his dress is much more moderate and inexpensive, even if it is less picturesque, than theirs.

It is true that here and there one may find some foolish young man whose taste in dress is as extravagant as that of any "back" of the days of the Georges. There is, for instance, a son of a well known peer who has the reputation of never wearing a suit twice. He has a wardrobe of waistcoats of all the colors of the rainbow, ranging from a light blue spangled with silver stars to a deep green satin with buttons of eighteen carat gold, each of which is adorned with the painted face of a beautiful woman.

Another wealthy aristocrat is credited with having as many suits and uniforms as there are days in the year and with spending on his tailor's bill a sum which would pay the yearly salary of a minor cabinet minister. But such men are modestly arrayed compared with the dandies of many a past century. The earl of Northumberland who lived in the latter part of the fourteenth century boasted no fewer than sixty suits of cloth of gold alone, and the bishop of Ely of that time had a change of raiment for every day of the year.

Much later, in Queen Mary's time, the wardrobe of a bishop might have been the envy of Solomon for the variety and costliness of its contents, and even a simple village priest, according to Fuller, wore "a vestment of crimson satin, a vestment of crimson velvet, a stole and fawn set with pearls, gowts faced with taffetas, etc."

In the days of Chaucer fashionable men wore clothes as many colored as Joseph's coat, so that "while one leg would be a blaze of crimson the other would be tucked out in green or blue or yellow, without any regard to harmony or contrast."

Even as late as the middle of the eighteenth century a dandy would deck himself in "a vivid green coat, a waistcoat of scarlet, yellow breeches and blue stockings," and the gentleman of a few years later wore, among similar sartorial vagaries, "a coat of light green, with sleeves too small for the arms and buttons too big for the sleeves; a pair of Manchester fine stuff breeches, without money in their pockets; clouded silk stockings, a club of hair behind larger than the head that carries it, a hat of the size of a sixpence on a block not worth a farthing."

At one fashionable epoch our ancestors, to quote the words of a quaint chronicler, "would wear clothes so tight to ye skin that it might well be conceived they wore no clothes at all," and at another they would wear them "so voluminous that a single suite might well have afforded raiment for a whole family, and so stuffed out with feathers that, of a venty, their waders resembled nothing so much as walking sacks."

At another period it was the grotesque fashion to combine on one person the dress of all the countries of Europe—the hat would be Spanish, the coat French, the trousers Turkish, and so on—so that the wearer was a "walking epitome of the dress of a continent."

At one time shoes would be worn with square toes of such width that a royal proclamation was issued limiting the width to six inches, and these shoes were succeeded by others which came to the finest of points at the toes. In Henry II's time shoes with points two feet long were worn by the fashionable, and in the reign of Henry IV. these points had grown to such an inordinate length that in order to be able to walk at all it was necessary to attach the tips to the knees by chains, which were of gold or silver, while the tops of the shoes were carved with all kinds of fantastic designs.

In the early part of the eighteenth century it was a common thing for a man of fashion to spend several hours a day with his valet, among the many quaint operations being "the starching of the beard and the proper perfuming of garments, the painting of the face and anointing with oils, tinctures, quintessences and pomatums." It is even said that some of the dandies of the time bathed in wine and milk "for the preservation of their complexions and the rejuvenation of their energies."—London Tit-Bits.

Mrs. Wunder—It seems to me that that music teacher is always asking for money.

Mr. Wunder—That's perfectly natural. His scale, you know, begins and ends with "dough"—Baltimore American.

WEAK LUNGS

As Indicated By A Hacking Cough.

Vinol Will Cure Lung Affections.

When you have a cough you are continually fearing something worse. Do not let yourselves get in this condition. Come and talk to us and let us tell you why we know Vinol is the best thing that you can take for a hacking cough.

One of the greatest remedies that has ever been prescribed by physicians for consumption and all wasting diseases is cod liver oil. You know how disagreeable it is to take. We have actually seen people who would rather take their chances than to take that medicine. Now with Vinol this is all different. To be sure it owes its value to the fact that it contains a highly concentrated form of the valuable medicinal properties that have made cod liver oil famous for such diseases, but let us remind you that it does not contain any oil or grease that makes the old form of cod liver oil so objectionable and often so impossible to a weakened stomach.

Try our Vinol if you are experiencing any bronchial or lung trouble. It does not upset the stomach. It will do that organ good, not only by creating an appetite by enabling it to better assimilate the food that is taken into it. It will increase the nourishing properties of this same food, so that the system will take up all the elements it needs to make rich red blood and firm flesh.

When this is done the doors of the system are closed against consumption, and any existing irritation or diseased membrane will be cured.

Mr. Thomas Morton, Stillwater, Maine, says: "My grandson has been troubled with a bad cough lately and learning that Vinol was good for all pulmonary ills, I got a bottle of it for the boy. All I can say is that it proved just the medicine he needed. He now feels much better, and his cough has disappeared."

The reason we promise to refund the cost of Vinol to all who do not experience the benefits that we claim it will bring about, is because we know by experience that it invariably accomplishes everything we claim for it. It is very successful.

SIGNAL NOTES.

All saloons in Carbondale, Ill., have been closed by vote of the city council.

The license committee of the Chicago council has recommended the passage of an ordinance prohibiting wine rooms.

William D. Norris, mayor of Ottawa, Canada, has been removed from office for buying a drink of liquor during hours prohibited by law.

W. J. Healey, auditor of the freight department of the Santa Fe railroad, has issued an order to the effect that no person addicted to the use of cigars will be employed hereafter.

The saloons of Durham, N. C., must close at 10 o'clock in the evening, and remain closed till 6 o'clock the next morning, under the provision of a new law which goes into effect, January first.

A REMINISCENCE.

Dear Union Signal:—I wish to congratulate the National W. C. T. U. upon one feature of their convention held in the capital city last year. I refer to the reception tendered them by President McKinley at the White House. It is well that they so fully responded and enjoyed the hospitality of the chief magistrate at that time. Had our convention occurred one year later we should not have been invited. This does not imply that President Roosevelt is less inclined to honor us than was President McKinley, but since the tragedy at Buffalo great public receptions have ceased.

At present, organizations are received only through committees. This seems to indicate a period of greater care for the life and strength of the chief magistrate. It will be cheerfully acquiesced in, and appreciated by a loyal people. The W. C. T. U. has reason to look upon President Roosevelt as a friend. He has himself figured in no inconsiderable way as a reformer.

The sixteen hundred women who were so fortunate as to participate in the distinguished reception tendered the National W. C. T. U. on December 4, 1900, will never forget the brilliant scene. The receiving party, with President McKinley at its head standing with out stretched hand and kindly mien, looking intently into the faces of his guests as they passed before him. Did he think of early crusade days, when his fair young wife had joined the praying band? Did he compare that little company to this strong host?

Just such a reception was never seen. There were women from every part of the country and many from other lands, of every shade of political preference, of every walk in life, of every religious denomination, yet all of one mind and heart upon the temperance reform, one principle, action and aim. When all had passed and retired, the officers of the District of Columbia Union went back to tender thanks to President and Mrs. McKinley, and each lady of the cabinet who had stood patiently for several hours and added so much to the pleasure of the occasion.

To Mrs. McKinley we expressed particular gratitude for her kindness to those women who were visiting the capital for the first time. When I asked if we had wearied her she replied: "Oh, no. My interest is too deep to feel weariness." Then, as many know, she handed me the bouquet of American beauty roses that had lain in her lap and bade me carry it to Mrs. Stevens with messages of esteem.

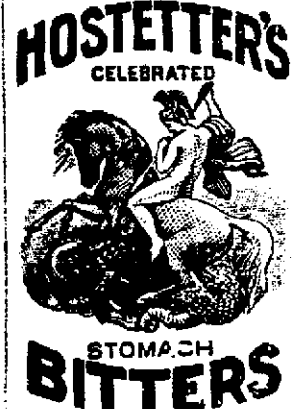

She, who that day sat the first lady of the land, safe and happy in the presence of him who idolized her and glorified the married state, is now a weeping widow, crushed and broken. Truly it was most fitting that at the following convention in Fort Worth, we should send her a message of condolence and sympathy. Alas for the changes for one short year.—Mrs. Clinton Smith, President W. C. T. U. of D. of C.

Manchurian Treaty.

Peking, Dec. 23.—The first discussion of the Manchurian treaty between Paul Lessar, the Russian minister here, and the Chinese plenipotentiaries, Prince Ching and Wang Wen Shao, occurred in this city. Prince Ching and Wang Wen Shao displayed much less compliance with the Russian policy than had the late Li Hung Chang. They urged the following substantial modifications: First, the stipulation of an early date for the withdrawal of all Russian troops from Manchuria, except the railway guard, the number of which should be limited. Second, they opposed the paragraph restraining China from increasing the number of her troops in Manchuria without consulting Russia.

Attorney Sullivan Guilty.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—The jury in the case of Lawyer Alexander Sullivan, on trial before Judge Abner Smith for conspiracy to abet a fugitive from justice, came into court with a verdict of guilty. As punishment the jury imposed a fine of $2,000. This carries with it no prison sentence. State Attorney Barnes demanded that Sullivan be taken to jail, but the court declined to enforce this demand and Sullivan was permitted to leave the courtroom with his attorneys. Sullivan's counsel entered a motion for a new trial. Should this motion be overruled judgment for $2,000 will be entered against the attorney.

Sweatshop Destroyed.

New York, Dec. 23.—Isaac Gill, a tailor, 62, and an unidentified man lost their lives at a fire which destroyed a four-story sweatshop building on Clinton street. Four people were injured, none of them fatally. About 40 men and women were at work in the building. The fire started in the basement and gained such headway that escape was cut off. The people jumped from the windows to save themselves. Many whose names were not mentioned were slightly injured. The loss is figured at $10,000.

Protest to Turkey.

Constantinople, Dec. 23.—The authorities at Beyrout, Syria, have notified naturalized American citizens that they must renounce their naturalization within 15 days, otherwise they will be expelled from Turkey. Spencer Eddy, first secretary of the legation at Constantinople, has made an energetic protest in the matter. He has written the Turkish authorities, demanding the withdrawal of the measure. The incident may become serious, owing to the absence of a naturalization treaty.

A Desperate Negro.

Sparks, Ga., Dec. 23.—In attempting to arrest Henry Porter, a desperate negro gambler here, Marshal M. J. Kinard was shot in the right hand and arm and J. L. Kirby, who went to assist the marshal, was instantly killed. The negro opened fire on Kinard and Kirby as they approached him. Kinard picked up his pistol with his left hand and shot the negro three times. The negro fell several times, but escaped to a nearby swamp. A posse is after him.

More Victims.

Pittsburg, Dec. 23.—Three more of the workmen were victims of the explosion at the Singer-Nimick plant of the Crucible Steel company of America are dead. Their deaths make the total four. Their names are: William Reed, Ford B. Reed, 17, his son; John P. Brown, 45; A. K. Pershing, 32.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEXT DOOR.

When one has been bored with an extremely dull and characterless misnomer sailing under the title of farce, he or she is in a fair way to appreciate the announcement that the famous Royer Troupe of acrobats in their mirth provoking "Next Door" is underlined for an early appearance. The author of "Next Door" says that his vehicle was axled for laughing purposes only, and incidentally, to introduce the gymnastic gyrations of the Bros. Royer the world's most famous acrobatic family. Evidently he succeeded in his double purpose for that the play in itself is a clean and perhaps instructive, mirth provoker and that the Rogers are popular favorites is evidenced by the enormous crowds that flock to see it. The play will be seen at the Auditorium, Dec. 26.

"MORE THAN QUEEN."

Real royalty hardly could be served with greater magnificence than will be shown in mimic presentation at the Auditorium on Dec. 24, when "More than Queen" will be presented by William Humphrey and his company, with Roselle Knott as Josephine. The costumes, jewels, pictures, scenic surroundings in this production of "More than Queen" is said to surpass in splendor even Fanny Davenport's famous stage settings of "Gismonda" and to cast into shadow all previous extravaganzas of the theatre. This means that the Julia Arthur production with all its original embellishment of scenes, costumes and color will be given by Mr. Humphrey who has secured the rights from Miss Arthur. The coronation scene which forms the most superb tableau ever seen on a stage will be disclosed just as it was under Miss Arthur's management. Indeed, the whole play affords a series of astonishing stage pictures, and these by no means detract from the interest and pathos of the story which finds its climax when the despairing Josephine signs the divorce papers in order that she may be near the man whom she so intensely loves. Mr. Humphrey's company is highly recommended, as he has chosen his people with regard to their special fitness in each case. Miss Knott is an actress widely known through her connection in prominent roles with well known stars.

The Newark Dramatic Club will produce on Christmas day matinee and night "A Noble Outcast" at the Auditorium for the benefit of the M. W. of A. Do not miss it.

BRIXTON BURGLARY.

When Manager Shubert produced "The Brixton Burglary" for the first time in this country, he selected the strongest company of comedians available. The comedy was enacted in so delightful a manner, that had it been less meritorious in its construction, it might still have gained success owing to its artistic and finished presentation. The original company has been kept intact for this season's tour and comes here with the following stage favorites: Mr. W. J. Ferguson, Miss Nellie Butler, Miss Carolyn James, Mr. Daniel Fingleton, Mr. Wright Huntington, Mr. Harry Gibbs, Miss Regina McAyoy, Miss Ann Warington and Mr. Douglas Flint. Auditorium Dec. 27.

A very capable company under the management of Charles O. Porter, who is well known in Newark, and is now employed at the Warden cafe, will present a really meritorious comedy drama entitled "All a Mistake" at the Auditorium on December 31.

The company is headed by Mr. Arthur Goodwin, and is capable and well balanced.

THE POLICE SLATE.

Art Moore was arrested by officer Zergiebel on a warrant charging him with stealing a natural gas burner, valued at $1, from Add Miller. The hearing was postponed.Harry McManus was arrested for fighting by Officer Bell.There were two sleepers at the city prison Sunday night.

Shot by His Father-in-Law.

Pittsburg, Dec. 23.—John W. Moore, 69, an old soldier, shot and instantly killed his son-in-law, Thomas Mawhinney, at the latter's home in Bellevue.
It is said the Mawhinneys quarreled on Friday evening and Mrs. Mawhinney told her father that her husband had abused her and called her vile names. The old man said he would attend to the matter. He went to Mawhinney's home, called him to the door and without any parley shot him in the neck. Moore then walked to the police station and gave himself up.

Freights Collide.

Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 23.—Loss of life and property was the outcome of a rear-end collision of two southbound special freight trains, one train crashing into another which had stopped to take water. The killed are: Napoleon Delaria, an employee of the road, and a boy named Louis Gillette, both of this city. The injured man is A. J.
Burney of Escanaba, a brakeman.

Killed Her Husband.

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 23.—Near Varville, Hampton county, a Mrs.
Phillips killed her husband, John Phillips, who, it is said, in a drunken condition had attempted to take the life of herself and her son. Phillips fired at the woman, who fled into the yard where she seized an ax, killing him instantly. The coroner's jury exonerated Mrs. Phillips.Germany and Venezuela.
Berlin, Dec. 23.—It is stated on good authority that the German government is preparing for military action against Venezuela in order to compel a settlement of German claims against that country.A Difficulty of Language.
"I am afraid," said the eminent Chi-naman, "that our people are very much misunderstood.""Yes," answered Miss Cayenne;
"whenever I hear two Chinese in conversation I am reminded of the celebrated remark that language was given for the concealment of thought."

Up to Papa.

"Children," said the father, facing the ordeal manfully, "this is your new mamma.""Was that the best you could do, papa?" asked the youngest, casting a critical eye on the new member of the family.—Chicago Tribune.

BUILDING COLLAPSED

Large Force of Fire Fighters Crushed to Death.

A TERRIBLE AFFAIR IN OLD MEXICO.

Fifty Men, Engaged in a Battle With Flames That Attacked the Market House, Caught and Mangled When the Walls Gave Way—Details of the Disaster.San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 23.—By the burning of the city market house at Zacatecas, Mexico, fully 45 lives have been lost and over a score of persons seriously injured, some of them so badly that they can not recover. Fifteen bodies have been taken from the ruins and a large force is at work clearing away the debris in order to recover others, though there is no hope that any of those caught in the collapse of the big structure will be found alive. It is impossible at this time to learn the names of the victims. Among those caught in the collapse were several of the minor officials charged with the management of the building.The market house was one of the largest buildings in Zacatecas, and was owned by the city. Its lower portion was composed chiefly of cold storage cellars, in which local merchants stored their perishable goods, and it was in the basement section that the fire originated. Hundreds of men were formed into gangs and were businessly engaged in the work of saving goods when the entire superstructure, weakened by the rapidly spreading flames, collapsed without a moment's warning, crushing and burying dozens of those engaged in the work of salvage. The fire department is poorly equipped and the supply of water inadequate, so that no effective resistance could be offered to prevent the spreading of the fire, which finally burned itself out, leaving many unfortunately buried beneath tons of wreckage. As soon as possible an effort was made to get out the bodies of the dead, but the heat drove back the rescuers for hours and only 15 of those who were nearest the outer walls of the building could be removed. The market house was one of the handsomest buildings in the city. It cost over $150,000.

FAMILY INCINERATED.

Overheated Stove the Cause of a Distressing Affair.Dubois, Pa., Dec. 23.—A distressing affair occurred three miles from Summerville, Jefferson county. The home of John Ashbaugh, a farmer, was destroyed, and four persons were burned to death. One other is burned in such a manner that recovery is doubtful, and four others are seriously burned and injured. The dead are: William Ashbaugh, 22; Mabel Ashbaugh, 12;
Harry Ashbaugh, 10; James Ash-baugh, 9. Herman Ashbaugh, 8, is fatally burned. Fire was caused by an overheated stove.

Town All But Wiped Out.

Cairo, W. Va., Dec. 23.—Fire threatened to destroy the entire town here and would have done so but for the volunteer work of citizens and the facilitate direction of the wind. It destroyed the Dunlap hotel, National Supply company's store, McGregor's office building, C. E. Haddock's hall and tenement house, the opera house, Mrs.
McGregor's tenement house and the residence of Rev. H. C. Sanford. A freight train ran over the hose and then the water supply gave out, threatening the entire town, but water was finally pumped direct from the pumping station and the town was saved.
The loss is about $50,000.

Big Bridge Over the Ohio.

Pittsburg, Dec. 23.—The American Bridge company has secured the contract for the steel superstructure of the Wabash railroad's big cantilever bridge over the Ohio river at Mingo Junction. The amount of the contract is over $600,000, and the stipulation is made that the work be completed before Jan. 1, 1903. The whole cost of the bridge will be $1,000,000. Only two bridges of the kind in the world are greater than this one—over the Fifth of North Scotland, which is the largest, and the Wabash company's bridge over the Monongahela river at Pittsburg, now under construction.

Supreme Court Judge.

New York, Dec. 23.—Justice David McAdam of the supreme court of the state died at a private sanitarium in this city from cancer of the tongue.
Last Monday the cancerous growth was successfully removed. The patient, however, suffered a relapse. A widow and four sons survive Justice McAdam, who was 63 years of age.
He was born in this city. His term of office would have expired Dec. 31, 1904. Justice McAdam was the author of many legal works that are considered authorities.

Refused to Drink.

Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 23.—Charles Moore, a hotel keeper of this city, shot and instantly killed James A. Garner and mortally wounded William Garner, his brother. James Garner and Moore had a dispute, and as the two Garners were passing his hotel he came out and shook hands with Will Garner, afterward inviting them in to take a drink. Both refused the invitation and the shooting followed.
Moore gave himself up, claiming self-defense.

Fierce Blaze.

Utica, N. Y., Dec. 23.—The 4-story building known as the Reynolds block in this city was totally destroyed by fire. The loss is $287,000; insurance, $208,000. A fireman was injured by a falling wall, but will recover. When the firemen arrived the flames were raging fiercely.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Some Items of News Told by the Bunny Editor.[Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.] Men may come and men may go, but we continue to hold down the postoffice at Givendum Gulch just the same.
We congratulate the government on knowing when it has got a good thing.The published reports that we lost $5,000 in a game of poker one day last week with the governor of Arizona are without foundation. As a matter of fact, we don't believe the governor knows king's high from four jacks in the game.The editor of the Blue Grass Banner calls us an unkind scoundrel and asks the people of this territory to rise and drive us out. And you when we ride over to Blue Grass and reach for Brother Burlbank's ear it won't be there.Colonel Dayball finished his term in state prison the other day and arrived at the Gulch with the same old smile on his countenance and the same eagerness to find an individual to lend him $2 until tomorrow.Our esteemed contemporary is out with an article this week claiming that we have threatened his life and that he fears assassination at our hands. The poor old chap! If it wasn't for such occasional assertions, we should forget his existence on earth. We may start in some day to kill off all the babies in town, but our esteemed need never fear harm at our hands.Our agricultural editor, who thought he saw grass growing on the heels of a broncho and went to lift them up to see and was kicked forty times in about the fortieth of a second, is recovering under the skillful medical treatment of Dr. Baker. He will lose all his teeth, and his nose will always have a crook in it, but the experience gained will raise his salary at least a dollar a week.Two weeks ago George Sims shot at a wolf near Dog hill and killed a twohundred dollar horse belonging to the Big 4 ranch. Yesterday he fired at a Chinese laundry in town and plugged a mule worth $150. Give it up, George.
Nature intended you to shoot with your mouth.Up to the present date the common council has not passed an ordinance over our veto as mayor, and we might as well add that whenever it sets out to do so there will be a barrel of bullets let loose in the city hall.Old Jim Williams came down off the hills the other day spilling for a row with somebody, and within two hours after his arrival he had a bullet through his right lung. We have a small town stuck away in one corner of a big territory, but you can get most anything you want by ringing the doorbell. Old Jim will live, but the doctor says he will always carry a wheeze around with him.We wish to say to those subscribers who are complaining that The Kicker isn't "pitching in" hard enough that we are saving our wind for the next presidential campaign. It's always well enough to have something to talk about when you turn loose.

M. QUAD.

Some Doubt About It.

"Do you think your father is pleased with your engagement to me?" he asked."I'm just a little uncertain as to that," she replied.
"Has he said anything about it?"
"Not directly, but after your interview with him the other evening he looked at me a long time very solemnly and then said, 'And I always thought you were a girl of reasonably good judgment too!'"—Chicago Post.

His Taste Uncertain.

"Pooh!" said Daisy scornfully. "The idea of your being afraid of a poor old house dog! Why, he eats out of my hand."
"I don't doubt it," replied Burroughs dubiously. "But what I am afraid of is that he might take a notion to eat out of my leg!"—Smart Set.

Sized Them Up Wrong.

"I owe my downfall," said the convict, "to errors of judgment."
"To errors of judgment?" said the visitor."Yes, I was the cashier of a bank, and I didn't know the value of my poker hands!"—Pack.

None Too Liberal.

"Mr. Linger spends a great deal of time with you, Molly," said Miss Kit-tish to Miss Frocks."Yes, but that's all he does spend!"— Detroit Free Press.

Bearable.

"You must tell your husband to change his diet," said
the physician.
"Tell him to eat more beef
and potatoes."
"Oh, well,"
said Mrs. Can-rox after a moment's consideration, "I suppose it is just as well. Beef
and potatoes
are getting so expensive that even the most wealthy families need not be ashamed to eat them!"—Washington Star.

HOUSE OF LORDS, SHOWING THE NEW THRONE CHAIRS.

Parliament is to be reopened by King Edward on Jan. 16. In the house of lords the customary benches will be removed, and the narrow forms which have already done duty and are now kept in the precincts of the house will be put in position, thus about doubling the ordinary accommodation of the chamber. When Queen Alexandra's throne, an exact replica of that so long used by Victoria, was made, the two chairs of state were also altered. That in which the king when Prince of Wales was accustomed to sit was adorned with his crest and the letters "P. W." That on the left of the throne occupied in his lifetime by the prince consort bore his arms and the letters "P. A." These were replaced for the last opening of parliament by a simple duke's coronet in each case. Now that the Duke of Cornwall and York has been created Prince of Wales his crest and the "P. W." have been restored.

BOWSER VS. LABOR.

HE IS APPOINTED TO SETTLE A DISPUTE BETWEEN TWO UNIONS.

The Questions Involved Were Gone Over by Both Sides, but a Ruction Arose Unexpectedly and the Old Fellow Comes Out of It a Wreck.

(Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.)

THE Bowsers had just finished dinner the other evening when the bell rang and Mr. Bowser was asked to step outside for a minute. He held some sort of discussion with two or three men on the doorstep and at the end of ten minutes re-entered the house to say to Mrs. Bowser:

"I find that I shall have to go out for an hour or so this evening."

"Some club matter?" she queried.

"No. Those gentlemen who just called were a committee, or, rather, two committees, appointed to secure my services as arbitrator between two unions. I am to meet them at headquarters. I was selected over scores of others mentioned, and I feel a bit proud of the honor done me."

"WHAT IN BLAZES?"

"But what do you want to mix up in a quarrel for?" she asked.

"In the first place, there is no quarrel, but only a disagreement; in the next, I shall hear the statements of both sides and smooth over the little trouble."

"What is it about?"

"Why, as I understand it, the Moving Van union and the Moving Van Employers are at loggerheads as to what constitutes a backload for a man to carry up three pairs of stairs. The union holds to it that when a man is loaded down with a sideboard or a bureau that's enough, while the employers hold that a mattress or an iron bedstead ought to be added. I shall of course hear more particulars at headquarters. It has been agreed to leave the decision to me, and I feel somewhat flattered over it."

"I wouldn't if I were you," quietly observed Mrs. Bowser.

"Hey? What do you mean?"

"I mean that you had better let them fight it out among themselves."

"Woman, what in thunder ails you?"

"I simply ask you to keep out of trouble. What is it to you whether a moving van man carries six bedsteads or only a hatbox at a load?"

"Do you understand that this matter may become a great national issue

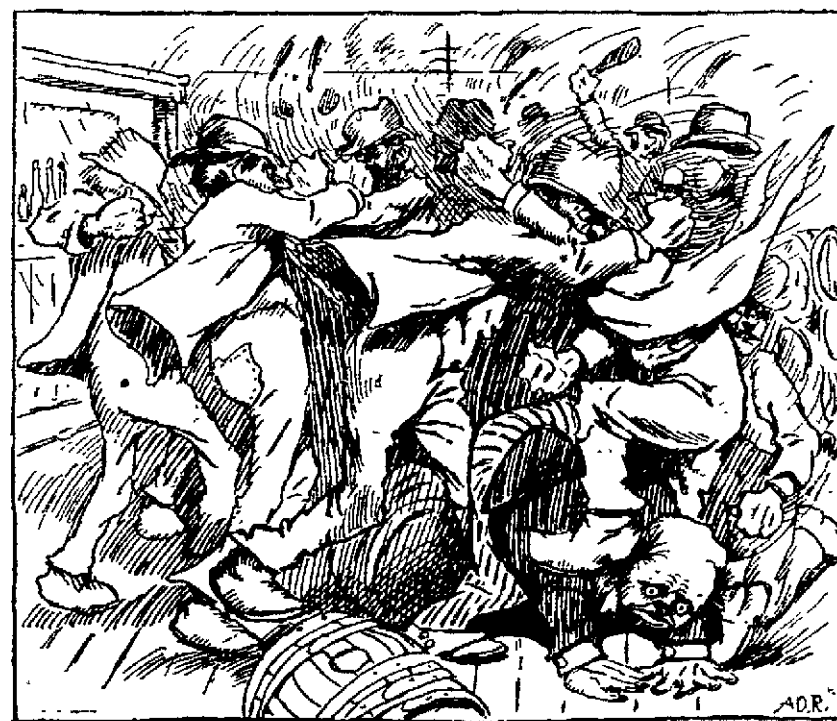

"Say, now, but you'd better set 'em up for the boys before we begin business. They have done you proud, and they'll want to see that you appreciate it."

Mr. Bowser hesitated, but only for a moment. It was a crisis, and he never shirked a crisis. The thirty-seven glasses had scarcely been emptied when the president of the Moving Van Employers winked him into a corner and whispered:

"Repeat the dose, old man. That was a treat for the union. You must now treat the employers."

Mr. Bowser treated. It was another crisis, and he met it. Then the meeting was called to order, and the president of the M. V. E. proceeded to state his side of the case. When he hired a man on one of his wagons, he expected that man to do his duty. If that man was broad enough in the back and strong enough in the legs to carry a piano up stairs he was looked to go ahead. If he was a weakling and could only bear the weight of an icebox and a bookcase, no fault would be found with him so long as he did his best. What the employers found fault with was that two men would conspire to do one man's work. He cited case after case where he had seen men climb three and four pairs of stairs with no other loads than a cookstove on their backs and a dining room table in either hand and where he had seen two men make a great deal about getting a thousand pound safe on to a fourth floor. All the employers asked for was a square deal. They didn't expect any one man to carry a whole wagonload of goods up stairs at one trip, but neither was it fair or right that a man should waste valuable minutes mopping the sweat from his brow or figuring how a six foot bedstead could be pushed up a three foot stairway.

The speaker did not sit down when he had finished. On the contrary, he edged around to Mr. Bowser and suggested that another crisis was at hand. That crisis called for more beer, and Mr. Bowser met it. Then the president of the M. V. U. arose and stated his side of the case. He didn't call it a case where capital was sucking the lifeblood of labor. It was that capital was breaking labor's back by overloading it with bureaus and refrigerators. He pointed to his bald head and declared that his hair had been worn off by rubbing against family iceboxes. He pointed to his bowlegs and declared them to be the direct result of backloads of bedsteads and tables. Under the slave driving system pursued by the M. V. E. the members of the M. V. U. all over the world were becoming squat, baldheaded and bowlegged, and a year hence would see them humpbacked as well. It was a feeling speech—that is, he felt for Mr. Bowser after concluding it and said that a terrible crisis could only be avoided by another call for beer. It was called for. Then the arbitrator arose to arbitrate. Mr. Bowser will never remember whether he began his remarks at the landing of the pilgrim fathers or started in at Valley Forge. At any rate, they were interrupted by calls for more beer. He will also be at a loss to recall just what started the ruction when further calls for beer were unheeded. Some one may have called some one else a liar, or there may have been a difference of opinion on some of the political questions of the day. A ruction came,

EVERYBODY WAS TRYING TO PUNCH EVERYBODY ELSE'S HEAD.

on to himself.

"No, I don't."

"Do you understand that it may eventually spread to the remotest parts of the earth?"

"Nonsense. I understand that if you mix up with it you'll come home hatless and with your coat torn up the back."

"That is enough, woman—that is enough," said Mr. Bowser as he waved her aside. "Don't sit up for me. I shall come home when I get ready. What in blazes?"

He referred to the cat, which was sitting up and grinning at him with her left eye half closed. He jumped at her with fell intention, but she sought safety under the piano and chuckled as he put on his overcoat and hat and passed out of the house. After a walk of ten minutes he reached the place designated. It was a wagon shop. It was next door to a saloon. There were two men in the wagon shop and thirty-four in the saloon, and, as the thirty-four refused to join the two, the two finally decided to join the thirty-four. Mr. Bowser didn't look upon this as exactly parliamentary, but he was not there to split straws. He was expected. He was greeted as "old man," "boss," "Bowser," "pard" and so forth, and the president of the Moving Van union took him aside and said:

however, and two minutes after the first knockdown everybody was trying to punch everybody else's head. There was no opportunity for Mr. Bowser to bear himself nobly in this crisis. A blow on the nose put him out of it at most at the start, and he had been walked on for ten minutes before he finally reached the door and got out. Mrs. Bowser and the cat were waiting. The silence of the frosty evening was suddenly broken by what seemed to be the gallop of a horse along the sidewalk. It came nearer and nearer, and there was a hitch and a lurch in the gallop as it turned in at the gate. Then there was a rush up the front step, a bang at the door, and Mr. Bowser stood in the hall. He was a human wreck. He had got it bad. He had met the enemy, and he was h's'n.

"Well?" asked Mrs. Bowser as he leaned up against the wall and panted.

His eyes rolled, but he could not utter a word.

"I see," she continued. "Arbitrator Bowser has arbitrated, and the result is what might be expected—nose smashed, hat gone, clothes ruined and your eyes turning black. If you can manage to crawl up stairs, I'll get some hot water and the medicine chest and see if I can patch you up."

"Wo-woman!" he began, but she raised her hand and stopped him, and he crawled.

Nerve Slavery

It is present-day conditions—heapings of burdens of work upon the nervous system that tell the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Trembling, palpitating heart.
Sleepless nights.
Sudden startings.
Morning languor.
Brain fog.
Inability to work or think.
Exhaustion on exertion.
Flagging appetite.
Digestion slow.
Foolishness.
Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
Strength fails.
Loss of flesh and muscular power.
Sensitiveness to cold.

The above is the genuine package of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, are sold by dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

UNDER THE MILITARY

Army Men Want Several Civil Provinces Restored.

NATIVE FORCES AGAIN GET BUSY.

A Number of Fierce Engagements Emphasize a Week's Campaigning in the Philippines—Charges of Treason and Arrests of Suspects—General Chaffee on the Situation.

Manilla, Dec. 23.—General George W. Davis, commanding at Zamboanga, island of Mindanao, has requested that the province of Misamis, Mindanao, again be placed under military control. General Davis under proof that the recently elected president and vice councillors and the leading men of Cagayan de Misamis are guilty of treason in furnishing ammunition to the insurgents within the past month. The fiscal of the province of Misamis is also implicated. The evidence shows that all these men were members of the Katipunan society.

Captain John S. Parke, Jr., with a small force of men of the Twenty-first infantry, encountered 60 insurgents last week at Alaminos, in Laguna province. Four of the enemy were killed, several guns captured and their barracks was destroyed. General Bell, who is in command of the American forces in Batangas province, Luzon, has praised Lieutenant James D. Tilford, who, while scouting with Troop D of the First cavalry, routed an insurgent force in that province. Lieutenant Tilford located a rebel stronghold on the top of the hill near the town of Batangas. He surrounded the enemy under cover of night and attacked them at daylight. Their surprise was complete. Nineteen insurgents were killed while attempting to escape. Lieutenant Tilford captured 16 rifles and 500 rounds of ammunition. A detachment of scouts of the Second infantry also had a small engagement with the insurgents in which they killed nine men and captured four.

General Chaffee said he considered conditions in the Philippines to be hopeful, and that by the end of February all the turbulent provinces will have been pacified. General Chaffee excepts the island of Samar, however, which will probably require some months longer. There the situation demands a policy of rigid starvation, food to be given only to those who surrender or who stay in the towns.

Two priests have been arrested in Batangas province. They are charged with aiding the insurrection. They were found to have hidden behind the altar of their church appliances for counterfeiting money. They are charged with manufacturing silver dollars to pay the insurgent soldiers.

Boat Struck a Bar.

Ludington, Mich., Dec. 23.—While entering Ludington harbor during a heavy southerly gale the Pere Marquette car ferry No. 16 struck a bar, disabling her machinery and breaking the main feed steam pipe. Great volumes of steam instantly escaped. Mike Taft, a coal passer, whose home is in Chicago, was scalded to death, and two other coal passers whose names are unknown were also terribly scalded. They now lie in the marine hospital here, hovering between life and death. Many others who were in the hold of the car ferry received bad burns from the steam and suffered hardships during the nine hours which followed before they were rescued. It is believed that the boat will prove a total loss. Great banks of ice surround the boat on all sides. Boat and cargo are valued at $200,000.

Falling Walls.

Huntsville, Ala., Dec. 23.—In a fire which burned the store of the Alabama Feed and Implement company, in Commercial row, and destroyed or ruined 10 other stores, one fireman was killed and another seriously injured. After the flames were under control Firemen Haden-Cochran and John Colburn were standing just within the door of the feed store playing a line of hose when the front wall toppled over and the two men were buried beneath three feet of hot brick and blazing embers. The property loss was $40,000.

Got Life.

Louisville, Dec. 23.—Policeman George Hanlon was found guilty of the murder of Police Corporal Fred Richterkessing, and his punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. Corporal Richterkessing was shot and killed on the night of April 1 at Sixth and Broadway, which corner was in policeman Hanlon's beat. Richterkessing had reported Hanlon to the chief of police at different times for violation of police regulations. This was Hanlon's second trial, the first one resulting in a hung jury.

No Tidings of Missing Boat.

Port Townsend, Wash., Dec. 23.—The steamer Dolphin, which arrived from the north, brought no tidings of the United States mail steamer Discovery, of which she had gone in search. The Discovery sailed from Juneau early in November for Dutch Harbor, and was sighted by the steamer Elk on Nov. 14 at Wood Island. Since that time nothing has been seen nor heard of her. When she sailed for Dutch Harbor she had three or four passengers and a crew of 15 men.

Operation on Alger.

Detroit, Dec. 23.—An operation was performed on General R. A. Alger, former secretary of war, for the removal of gallstones, from which he has been suffering for a long period. General Alger rallied well from the operation and the surgeons reported that he had recovered almost entirely from the shock. His temperature was but little above normal and his pulse strong.

People often wonder how GOODHAIR Soap accomplishes such wonderful cures, even when other remedies have failed. It's simply this: GOODHAIR Soap is just skin medicine in the soap form. The soapy part of it opens up the pores of the flesh, and then the medicine gets right into the skin, where it's needed. That's the way it cures eczema.

Some Christmas Reflections.

It is a very gratifying reflection, amid the abundance of gifts which people are bestowing on their children and friends at this Christmastide that the children of the poor and destitute are not entirely forgotten.

Surely no one who expects to spend a happy Christmas will fail to consider the wants of those less fortunate than himself.

But in all our giving to the poor let us be careful to do it in such a way that we will not hurt their self-respect.

It is much more important that we should give in the right spirit than that they should receive our gifts in the right spirit, or in the spirit that we think they should manifest toward us.

Let us simply remember that they are the same flesh and blood as ourselves.

Therefore there should be no feeling of superiority on our part, no desire to have them feel any obligation to us or any dependence on our bounty, and no expectation of receiving any reward from them.

The truly charitable and righteous desires no reward for his gifts but that what he shall receive—to borrow the words of Holy Writ—at the resurrection of the just!

And every such person witnesses the resurrection of the just every day of his life.

Nay more, the daily life of such a person is itself the resurrection of the just!
